

New Political Situation and Economic Order in Asia

Nguyen Xuan Thang

Abstract

For over the past decade, the political landscape has changed rapidly in Asia together with an emerging regional economic order. The presentation will cover recent political events in the region, the impacts of the rise of India and China, the role of the U.S., and the trends of regional integration. It will also discuss the opportunities and challenges for the development of Asian countries in the coming years.